Ask a Leader

October 2012

Answers this issue from Charles Owens, GA ORH

What wisdom can you share about managing a team?

Managing a team starts with recruiting—pick a good one! Wait till the right one comes along; don’t rush—it takes patience. Make a list of the ideal candidate; a good place to start is thinking about someone that has been highly successful in the role and evaluating what made that person successful. Finally, recruit among your peers and ask among your community.